LITTLE GENERAL FARM PAYS

Profit Secured in Poultry as Well as Horses, Mules, Dairy Stock, Sheep and Hogs.

By W. H. SHEPARD
A neighbor of ours makes poultry a strong side line of his farming. He grows a great variety of plants and keeps and feeds a variety of animals. His poultry sales amount to nearly $200 each year and he feeds his grown chickens nothing except what they pick up about the place, but through his methods of cropping and feeding they secure an abundance, and respond accordingly.

The same neighbor keeps and grows horses and mules, dairy stock, sheep and hogs.

From the poultry and cows he has a constant daily cash income.

From the horses and mules he sells each year one or two animals at $100 or more a piece.

From the sheep he has wool to sell in early spring, and lambs later in the summer, and from the hogs he sells from $100 to $200 worth every two or three months.

He grows wheat, oats, corn, hay and a variety of forage crops, besides a good orchard, truck patches, and gardens from which nearly all the family eatables are grown, with some fruits and vegetables to sell.

He also sells from $100 to $200 worth of wheat each year, and his dairy products amount to $400 per year, and all from a farm of less than 100 acres.

Any general farmer who plans and executes can grow a variety of plants and animals on a small farm, make good money from the crops, and at the same time build up his land faster than by special cropping.

NUB CORN BEFORE PLANTING

Carefully Conducted Experiments Have Proven Advantages in Practice—Increases Yield.

At the North Carolina station carefully conducted experiments have demonstrated that it is advisable to nub corn before planting, for it has been found that, when seed from the tips and butts of ears are placed in one plot, and by the side of it another of the same ears, there is a larger percentage of dwarfed and barren stalks on the plot planted in tip and but kernels than from the other, and hence less yield of shelled corn per acre.

As both plots were planted on the same type of soil, and treated in the same way by fertilization and cultivation, it is strongly probable that the decreased yield of the plot sown in butt and tip grains was due to the seed, as all other conditions were as nearly identical for both as it was possible to secure.

CONVENIENT AS A NAIL BOX

Anything in Shape of Pan May Be Divided into Compartments to Hold Bolts and Screws.

Anything from a half gallon baking pan to a six-gallon dishpan may be used in making a very useful and convenient compartment box in which to keep nails, screws and bolts. The pan may be divided into four, six or eight compartments.

To make the divisions, get the distance across the bottom and the top of the pan, secure a piece of board just as wide as the pan is deep, and long enough to make the piece, an-

POULTRY

HOW TO FUMIGATE HEN HOUSE

Building Should Be Closed Tightly and All Fowls Excluded—Be Careful of Poison Used.

Fumigation is a means of reaching germs and insect life in the air of the room and in the cracks and crannies of the wood work, says the Cultivator. The house or room should be tightly closed and all fowls excluded during fumigation. A simple method is to burn the sulphur candles now sold at stores dealing in poultry supplies. The fumes of brimstone may also be produced by burning in a metallic basin (such as an old iron kettle) a number of rags previously soaked in melted sulphur. Sulphur may be mixed with a little alcohol or kerosene oil and burned, or it may be sprinkled upon live coals placed in a chafing dish. The house or room should be kept closed for several hours and then opened as thoroughly as possible to allow the wind to drive out any remaining trace of poisonous gas. In fumigating by burning substances be careful not to set fire to the building. Remember also that in most cases the substances which are used are poisonous to human life and to fowls. Carelessness in their use or in leaving them about where chick or child can get at them may have dire results.

USING A FIRELESS BROODER

Box Protected by Wool Carpet and Heated by Small Jug of Warm Water is Excellent.

There are many poultrymen who prefer to raise chicks in a fireless brooder, we give here a plan suggested by W. D. Neale, which has been used successfully for two years, says the Iowa Homestead. He secured a box three feet long, sixteen inches wide and eight inches deep from his grocer for fifteen cents. An opening was made in one side of the box four inches in width and height to admit the chicks. To fit in this box, make a frame of laths two inches less in width and length than the box. THE new administration at Washington was ushered into office under much more favorable weather conditions than those attending the Taft inauguration. Then there was a widespread blizzard that wrecked telephone and telegraph wires, hampered transportation, and hampered the food supply of the eastern cities for some days.

TWENTY-FOUR hundred farmers went to school on their farms in North Dakota during 1912. The pupils ranged in age from 10 year old boys to gray headed men. They study scientific agriculture under the direction of a faculty of thirty farmer experts. Fifty thousand dollars were spent by the North Dakota Better Farming associations during the last year in an effort to give the farmers of that state practical lessons in scientific farming.

NEARLY 50,000,000 packages were sent by parcel post in the first month of its operation, according to figures made public recently. Long range weather forecasting appears to be gaining credence little by little, with the progress of meteorology. The last annual report of the Dutch East Indian meteorological service mentions the fact that forecasts of the strength and weather characteristics of the easterly monsoon are now issued at Batavia each April. Official monsoon forecasts have been regularly made in British India for many years. In the United States weather bureau, Sunday forecasts for a week in advance have become an established institution. In all these cases the forecasts deal with only the broader features of the weather over wide areas.

At Washington, shortly after noon Tuesday, Hon Woodrow Wilson and Hon. Thomas Marshall took the oath of office as President and Vice President, respectively. For the first time in sixteen years the Democratic party is in control of the reigns of government, the Congress and Senate also being Democratic. The inaugural address of President Wilson was short but magnificent, and has the right ring to it. Following is a list of the members of his cabinet:

Secretary of State—William Jennings Bryan of Nebraska.

Secretary of Treasury—William G. McAdoo, of New York.

Secretary of War—Lidley M. Garrison of New Jersey.

Attorney General—James Mc Reynolds of Tennessee.

Postmaster General—Representative Albert Burleson, of Texas.

Secretary of the Navy—Josephus Daniels, of North Carolina.

Secretary of the Interior—Franklin K. Lane of California.

Secretary of Agriculture—David E. Houston, of Missouri.

Secretary of Commerce—Representative William C. Redfield, of New York.

Secretary of Labor—Representative William H. Wilson, of Pennsylvania.

Celic.

Colic is the spasmodic pain that sometimes occurs in one of the abdominal organs, it is the silent in that character can be felt in an aching.

It is usually the result of eating something that is somewhat indigestible, such as shell fish, pork or cheese, but it sometimes comes from eating too much food that in moderate quantity is perfectly wholesome. Colic from the latter cause is common in very small babies, who testify to their discomfort by screaming incessantly and at the same time violently drawing up their legs.

The chief symptom of simple colic caused by an error in diet is pain.

The pain may be felt in one place, or it may move about from one part of the abdomen to another. Pressure generally relieves it a little, but sometimes there's so much tenderness that the slightest touch cannot be borne.

Intestinal colic is not always due to imprudent eating. Various serious disorders, such as gallstones, appendicitis and peritonitis, may give rise to the same symptoms.

Lead colic causes severe abdominal pain, but in this case the condition of the patient's gums makes the diagnosis easy. When the pain is due to some serious internal condition, the physician can quickly recognize the fact by the prostration of the patient, and by other symptoms that he has learned to associate with acute abdominal disease.

The treatment of ordinary colic is directed to relieving the pain and removing the undigested food.

When the pain is very severe, it may be necessary to give an anodyne, prescribed of course by a physician; but milder attacks usually yield to the application of heat.

Very small children and babies need the same treatment as older people—apply warmth locally, and giving medicine that will relieve the system of the offending substance at once. After the child has recovered, it is a good plan to arrange his diet very carefully, in order that he may not become subject to such attacks.

Something to Think About.

policy with us will fill a want in human happiness that will otherwise remain unsatisfied.

CURIOS BITS OF HISTORY CENSURING THE PRESIDENT.

By A. W. MACY.

It is a very rare occurrence for the senate of the United States to pass a vote of censure on the president, but such a thing was done during Andrew Jackson's administration. It was in the year 1834, and the trouble grew out of the celebrated United States Bank and the president's relation to it. The resolution of censure read thus: "Resolved, That the president, in the late executive proceedings, in relation to the public revenues, has assumed upon himself a authority and power not conferred by the constitution, and laws, but in derogation of it, to Jackson, as is well known, was not noted for meekness. When he learned of the passing of the resolution he was in a towering rage. He came back at the session with a message that fairly sizzled with wrath. He called the members and vehemently denied the right of the senate to pass judgment on the executive, a coordinate part of the government. The senate was equally obstinate for a time, but finally, in 1837, the resolution was expunged from the records.

He called the members and vehemently denied the right of the senate to pass judgment on the executive, a coordinate part of the government. The senate was equally obstinate for a time, but finally, in 1837, the resolution was expunged from the records.

That the president, in the late executive proceedings, in relation to the public revenues, has assumed upon himself a authority and power not conferred by the constitution, and laws, but in derogation of it, to Jackson, as is well known, was not noted for meekness. Local Mention.

Good morning! Did you enjoy the inauguration? We did, too, by not being present.

Mr. Philip Dahl was here from Owensboro the first of the week on his business round.

Mr. J. P. Morgan returned Monday from a business trip to Chicago, where he spent several days.

Skating on pavements will be a luxury now, as an ordinance provides a fine of $1 for each offense.

Mr. and Mrs. John S. Bitzende arrived Sunday, and are at home on Mill street.

Mr. W. O. Belcher was here the latter part of the week on business matters.

Mr. Mack Ferguson, of South Carrollton, was Muhlenberg's lone representative at the inauguration.

Mr. M. B. McDonald was in Louisville and Cincinnati on business this week.

Easter comes earlier this year than it has in ninety years, and could be only one day earlier.

Mrs. James Ingram and child are here on a visit to relatives and friends, coming up from Princeton the first of the week.

Mr. M. M. Wheeler, of Central City, was here Monday on business, and mingling with some of his friends.

Important Coal Land Deal.

One of the largest coal land deals that has been made in this county in some time was closed this week, when Mr. W. A. Wicklite, Mrs. Mollie Reynolds and Mr. J. A. Gilman transferred 1,034 acres of mineral right, 160 acres of it including the surface, to the Beech Creek Coal Co. The land lays along the Greenville Drakesboro road, extending from Pond creek to Ebenezer church, and is rich in coal and mineral. It is not planned to develop the property right away, but that will be done in time. The deal was made by the real estate firm of Kirkpatrick & Roll, and they are being congratulated by their many friends over the important transaction.

Mike Kahoot Dies.

Uncle Mike Kahoot, aged 82 years, died at the poor farm at 11 o'clock Monday night, after a short illness from infirmities of age. For about fifteen years he had been an inmate of the county institution, and had become generally known. He was born in Germany, was educated highly, and was appreciative of all favors. His body was laid to rest in the graveyard on the farm.

Roark has the agency for the line of Sturgis "Superba" baby carriages, one of the most complete lines on the market. See them before you buy; made right, look fine, priced right.

The work of overhauling the First National Bank building has been completed, and the improvement is most marked. The telephone quarters and the private offices are now about the most inviting in town.

Central City Gets $7,500 Postoffice Appropriation.

Central City is in the list of Kentucky cities which will be provided with government public buildings, and an appropriation of $7,500 has been made for a post-office building, which should provide our neighbor with a building that will be an honor. This will be the first building in the county of the kind, and Central City is naturally very proud of the signal recognition.

Mrs. T. J. Morgan and Miss Marie Morgan of Nortonville, were here for a week-end visit with relatives and friends.

Miss Marguerite Duncan returned home the latter part of the week, after a visit of a month in New Orleans.

Mr. Chas. Williamson of Vine Grove, was here a few days this week on a visit to his sister, Mrs. R. F. Jarvis.

The city council was in regular monthly session Monday night, transacting routine business. An ordinance forbidding roller skating on pavements was adopted.

Take your beef hides to J. E. Coombs & Co. and get the cash.

Alterations in Muhlenberg County Savings Bank Near Completion.

Workmen are rushing to a finish the alterations in the Muhlenberg County Savings bank building, and the newly arranged rooms will be occupied at once. The bank will now have needed extra space, and the suite of offices of Judge T. J. Sparks cannot be surpassed for convenience and attractiveness.

When you get "Quail" meal you get the best that is to be had.

An Ordinance to Protect Pedestrians in the City of Greenville.

The City Council of Greenville Do Ordain as follows:

Freight Gets Ten Sheep.

Last Saturday night about 7 o'clock a through freight train killed ten sheep and injured seven at the Withers crossing. The sheep had been purchased by Mr. Robert Frazier, and he was driving them to his farm nearby. As the sheep crossed the track some of them wandered through the cattle guard. A train was coming from the east, and Mr. Frazier and his helpers dragged off all the animals they could, but time was limited, and nearly half the herd was hit. The injured ones are being given attention by Mr. Frazier.

Ford Automobile Factory Jumping.

Trade reports from the Ford Motor Co. show an astonishing volume of business that is being done. During January 17,601 cars were shipped, amounting to over $9,000,000, one day 1,330 cars being made and shipped, requiring over 200 freight cars. Even with this immense output, the factory has on file orders for more than 40,000 cars, which means that the concern is more than two months behind on shipment.

Pest Office Improvements.

Postmaster Poole has been making several important improvements in the office, half a hundred lock boxes having been added, the working space enlarged, and the interior brightened generally. The handling of the parcel post shipments is getting to be a large part of the work, but he and his force are keeping right up with it and all affairs of the office.

Prominent Coal Operator Dies.

Mr. John C. Brown, manager of the Bevier Coal Co., at Cleaton, died at Louisville last Thursday, where he had been six weeks under treatment. Bright's Disease was the cause of death. There were few more prominent and popular men in the county than John Brown. He was a fine business man, was genial and accommodating, and one of the most loved coal operators in this section. His body was carried to his old home in London, Ky., for burial.

Mr. Marvin Wells Accepts Position in Louisville.

Mr. Marvin Wells came over from Henderson Monday, and spent a day or two here with his home folks and friends. He has accepted a position with the Buschmeyer Drug Co., and will be at their new store, Third and Broadway, one of the most superb stores in the South. The many friends of Mr. Wells here are pleased over this recognition of his ability, and he carries the best wishes of a wide circle of friends.

To The Public.

We desire to announce to the public that our new mill is now in full operation, and we will at all times have on hand the very finest quality of flour, meal and feed. We are very anxious to do custom grinding for our friends, and can give them the very best flour and wheat that is to be had anywhere, in exchange for their corn and wheat.

Western Kentucky is awakening to the importance of improved highways, and the growing interest is manifesting itself in action. People are realizing that poor roads are the heaviest tax, while money spent for good roads is the safest and best investment.

Muhlenberg should join in the plans being made by our neighbors, and begin the macadamizing of our highways.

"The Liver Pills act
So Naturally and Easily."

Such a statement, coming from the cashier of a bank, shows what confidence responsible people have in these pills. Mr. A. L. Wilson after trying them wrote:

"I have used Dr. Miles' Nerve and Liver Pills and also your Anti-Pain Pills, with good results. The Liver pills act so naturally and so easily that I scarcely know that I have taken any pills. Please bring me some more of the Liver Pill and get me an Anti-Pain Pill and get immediate relief in every case."

A. L. Wilson, Sparta, Ill.

Mr. Wilson was for a number of years cashier of the First National Bank of Sparta.

"Yes'm."

"Very well. Now, don't forget to carry them on the right side Monday morning."

"What difference does it make?" growled dad.

"That shows what kind of a father you are," snapped mother. "If the child didn't alternate, he might get curvature of the spine."

Just Words.

The Agent—Then we'll consider that settled.

The Actor—But—er—what about the contract?

The Agent—Oh, that's all right! A verbal contract'll do.

The Actor—Laddie, listen. The last time I had a verbal contract, I drew a verbal salary!—London Opinion.

Derived Acquaintance.

Ethel—Why did you take off your hat to that girl? You don't know her, do you?

Jack—No—er—but my brother does, and this is his hat.—Princeton Tiger.

Wise.

"Have you decided how you are going to vote?"

"Yes; but let's change the subject. There's no reason why you and I should not continue to be friends."

A Hard Choice.

"What did the trust magnate decide to do for his health?"

"He has not made up his mind whether to take the hot baths abroad or the immunity bath at home."

PROOF.

"She is not at all vain about her beauty, although she has good cause to be."

"How do you know?"

"She told me so herself."

Disappointed.

"Now can you believe yourself. Her heart's exceeding wise? She wed a man she thought was fast, But found that he was slow."

Between Friends.

"Have you decided on your costume for the ball?"

"Yes; I shall go as a Turkish lady."

"How clever! You will wear a veil, won't you?"—Judge.

Betraying Her Cause.

"The temperance speaker I heard the other day had such a soft, low voice."

"Horror! Is she advocating speak-easy methods?"

Sure Thing.

"A girl's social success is rather a paradoxical triumph."

"How so?"

"Because it is a case where a Miss is a hit."

Practical Illustration.

"Are there any uplifting influences for your employees in this establishment?"

"Certainly, madam; try our new elevator."

Natural Affinity.

"What do you think of the timbre of Mlle. Squallini's voice?"

"I think it is the sought of timber that ought to take to the woods."

Obeyed Orders.

"I told the chef to prepare the fowl so that it would tickle my palate."

"And did he?"

"Yes; he left the feathers on."

Not His Taste.

"Are you interested in contemporary history?"

"Not much. I am more interested in what is going on now."
